Part 1 :Achieving & Overcoming

I Can Be (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I can be a hero, I can be a savor, I can be a champion, I can be the one who does the world a favor.

I can be Muhammad Ali float like a butterfly sting like a bee.

I can be a dreamer like MLK. I hope for a better way.

I can be a lawyer, I can be a doctor, I can be a writer just like I'm an author.

I can be a journalist, I can be an Athlete of sports and be a medalist, I can be a teacher, I can be a scientist.

I can be an achiever of a smart senior.

I can be wiser, I can be stronger, I can be a living legend that lasts longer.

I can be a success and I can be called one of the best. I can be a friend because I'm an African American.

I can be a brother, I can be a spokesman, I can teach the people within.

My American Dream (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I am the American dream. I am the guide. I am the citizen of the people that collide.

I am brave, I am strong, I carry the red, white, and blue flag as my war journey along.

I am peaceful, I am gifted since I was a newborn infant once a child that was lifted.

I am successful, I am good, let's change the way we think before we should.

Let's come together as one another, let us heal the poverty of our sister and our brother like a united team. This is my American dream.

Self-Expression (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

If there is something to believe all I know in the best way is to achieve.

Become above average, and tremendously better no matter how hard things always get and continue to defend forever.

Till the end of time once we elevate our goal with imperfection that is the highest mountain we climbed.

When I reach higher than I ever got I never let anybody tell me who I'm not.

My Generation (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I believe one day in my mind that this globe would be okay as I'm hoping for it to be fine.

Sometimes I see a good day, never the bad things that somebody captured or had.

Never goes away in my own words I say.

Let's change this nation into a good nation, stop the hating.

The Darkness of Heartaches & Pain (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

As we are in a world full of happiness, sadness, tragedy and allure I sometimes wonder if the world is going to change for sure.

When I

Look at life like a slideshow, it shows me the things I see and know what I know.

After all the hard times that breaks inside everyone, some who have been murdered and deceased by a gun look at the battle scars of soldiers who died in a Cold War. What do Our country need to fight for?

got Barack Obama to defend our nation and what is going on as people shot by victims, we see the news but try hard to understand as we listen to the tragedy of what came to this is The Darkness of Heartaches & Pain.

PART 2 :DEVOTEDNESS

The Passion of a Beautiful Bosom

(Poem) by Deonte Merritt

The passion of a beautiful bosom where do I begin saying that you are my kindliness inspiration that I see you in.

That beams up like dazzling gleams when the time ignites I'll ask you to be my engaging wife.

Your aesthetic beauty reminds me of a dandelion that I vow to once I come to pick you up in the midnight hour. Your passion is my passion. That fondness us both artistically murals into a scalloped shape that is everlasting.

Found Love (Poem) By Deonte Merritt

I found love in you because it was deep in my heart you all I can feel in my life from the start.

I give you true Desire, the one I admire and adore give you more of what you’re asking for l found love in you forever.

Red Bloom (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

This feeling is tense and angelic, your divine eyes, your heavenly smile lights up the whole planet.

I can never stop thinking about you. minute after minute my heart blooms out with thousands of roses in a room opening up impersonal love that comes together once we get married soon and fly away in romance as I glance into your gorgeous beauty on our honeymoon.

This poem is dedicated to my girlfriends that were my first lovers and childhood sweethearts I have been romantically in love with since we were little kids back in the 1990s at a playground in Hyattsville, Maryland.

My Girlfriends (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

It was once when we were little kids I can remember the things that we did.

We were at the playground. My girlfriends approached me. That's when our companionship was found. I wished we were reunited now but we lost distanced reach somehow.

I wish my girls and I could have blown Eskimo kisses on the lips together when it was just a few of us. I can still feel my baby girl's touch.

With hands we hold and bare, if I never walked away we would have still been friends writing sincerely love letters but as I keep my memory of us it would always remain in my heart forever.

Sugar Sugar Love Where Have You Gone (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

It was a Time when we met in this place, we both talked and conversed face to face.

We were both young that day. I always used to say "would you be with me forever this way?"

I can remember when we walked hand to hand how you were my woman and I was your man.

My heart opens for you in desire every time I think about you in my mind, I say I gotta find you whatever you are no matter in due Time.

I walk by and by trying to figure out why the love we had went away to fly.

I go to the subway station and I see it's my lady.

In my vision I put my hand to your hand as we look at one another eye to eye again.

As it leaves, I run and run.

Wait when it stops, I come closer to you with a charming kiss something

That was long ago to even reminisce.

I'm glad I found you back in my arm

With an embrace, kiss and a hug, I miss my Sugar Sugar Love.

Mystic Love (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Ever since the day I first laid eyes on you I wanted to say can this love be strong as it can hold on long?

I try to love you hard more than ever but you are the one I want to make love to as I treasure.

I cherish the day and moment with you what will I do without your love no Matter what comes between us, you'll always be my Mystic Love.

PART 3 :GOD'S PLAN & THE HEALING

Wonder of the World (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

This world is filled with pain. We go back and forth with the same thing over again.

Everyday it’s a different day, a new way to make it right to go through the hard times that we strive against dealing with the depression that can get emotional in our minds of stress we try to sacrifice with getting through the beating that never left.

I felt it pondering in a heartbeat sometimes I can’t stand the intensity heat that burns like crazy from the inside no matter what I do god said I got to continue fighting for my dignity and never cry with a optimistic feeling of the world on what it would be like in the afterlife sometimes I pray to god faithfully that can I make it through the day and the night but I know that everything will be alright.

God of the Universe (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

God made nature, God made birth, God made the peaceful land of the universe.

God made wind god made air god made love we share.

God made life, God made grass, God made us live with eternity to last.

Me, Myself & God (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Sticks and Stones may break my bones but

One day mama told me you are going to be grown and face this world on your own.

To learn each and every day something new, that’s why I gotta do what I got to do.

God made all this possible here and now you always tell me to keep my head up and smile.

When I was growing up you stood by my side and taught me a lot of things like how to crawl before I walk, think before I talk.

All the things a man should know before he is ready to go.

A son of a mama queen and a papa I’ve always seen

A born seed grew like a butterfly as days and years went by.

Like an hourglass dripping sand after sand, I hold the earth in the pawn of my hand. Me, myself and God have a plan.

Real (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Real as I am, real as I can be, real love, real prosperity.

Real knowledge, real mind, real education of words used to motivate and define.

Real life, a real writer, a real poet, a true fighter.

A real feeling, a real thought, the days and years as a youth that grew up being raised and wisely taught.

The real struggle, the real pain, the real society in the world full of nations we can rearrange to make a necessary change.

The Color of Peace and Pride (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

The color of peace and pride that I keep inside that's it's a dream that I can’t deny is my wish to decide.

Like an earth and Venus combining life has a dark and light that has a glamorous sight.

I watch the full moon and the half-moon. I hope to see the stars diamond sparkly so brightly soon.

Blue Rain (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

There is a quiet night with a quiet storm when I see it transform to gray.

I see drops falling down as it starts to pour through the clouds from all around.

Sometimes there is a clash of loud enormous thunder I wonder.

Why does it stop and never come back from the top?

Will I ever see the drips another day

From where it came when it storms all I can see is blue rain.

Broken Wings Without Dreams (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I’m not Trying to have broken feathers with my goals. I’m focusing on endeavoring.

I always stay aware and alert of what the devil wants to do when It comes to his evil games. I call God to not let my life be in vain.

As I hear the angels sing I don't ever want these saint wings pulverize in my dreams.

PART 4 :POETRY IN MOTION

Poetic In My Blood (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Words of Weapons (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Black & Beautiful (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Love Myself (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Another Day (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Stop, Look, Listen (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Young World (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

PART 5 : A FREELY MIND

Where I Must Go (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

The Life Outside Me (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Free Relaxation (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

as I'm meditating and revealing self esteem to keep my focus occupating

I’m feeling free like a dove in the breeze skies

I define inner tranquility and exclamation all I need is free relaxation.

Express Yourself Pt. 1 (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Lost & Found (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

The Way Of Life (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Follow Me (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

PART 6 : THE RISE OF PEACE & FREEDOM

The Peace Message (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Rebel soldiers we march to our salvation with the lord's orders.

keep going and don’t say we tired of this battle lift the vibrancy that keeps the burliness energizing.

never let the evil ghost come for an invite. Let's all give prestige to our father god that has a peace message.

People Against The World Life (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Unified (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

We are citizens of one nation under God in liberty and justice for all we rise and never fall.

ever since our country has been in crisis some presidents were never the nicest.

why soldiers had to die because George Bush declared back when I was growing up as a child playing my PlayStation 2.

More sad stories kept coming on Fox 5 news now that Biden is in the white house. What is he going to do?

If we stay side by side with our community we stay unified.

Political Stand (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

As I'm an american civilian I can’t allow my fincity to be left in the demising corpse it must be interrupted.

I keep my strongest belief that there would be no more painless lives of innocent ones being shot that can never be no longer an investigation by the police.

as sending out this poem in a statement as a man I have to take a political stand.

A Righteous Way (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

As it's a new morning to say thank god for waking up from bed I say in my head I will even get past what’s going on so no more tears will be shed.

repair for what we can rebuild to make this society to never create criminals rating premeditated kills ever again.

let’s rejoice and delete this it’s only going to bring righteous.

Change My Country (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

If President Biden can change my country from continuously going insane I will thank him for the help I bring.

it’s the only way we don’t have to worry about the hardships but the outdated job in my state Maryland needs.

I don’t see anything being complicated but can’t not let this time be faded.

PART 7: THE MAZE OF ESCAPISM

Tangled Nightmare (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

it may feel i’m caught in a numbness web of unpleasant fantasies I never let the demons ever laugh at me.

God is always my strength as a warrior. I won't let things come to an end.

because the lord cares he helps me sleep with no tangled nightmares.

Never Stranded (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

There is a map that is a journey I must follow. God is my compass to tell me never have fear but keep the faith never to let opportunity explode because good is near.

I feel remorseful of my mistakes I’ve made but you are always with me to forgive and always have guided the way you’ve paid.

wherever I landed you never left me stranded.

Obticales (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

don’t burn my greatness for me to succeed whatever I want to be I must exceed.

Build my empire, work my way to the top once I reach my destination on the road. I hustle hard because I’m not going to stop.

I must be aware and believe in myself, even open minded. As I stay logical I’m going to aim at that goal because I’m seeking obstacles.

Moment of Truth (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

my whole growth I wanted to stay on point never waste quarter pass 4 with moving slow.

I got to be integred to reach the victory lap. There was no replay of ever looking back.

This is what god knew that I’ll overcome to be a moment of truth.

Prosper Souls (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

god you never left my side in the shadow you keep lives saved to never have a halo.

Since I was spawned on this earth during my infancy you made sure I breathe by inhaling with my eyes to see.

I’m never torn. You have always been by my side since I was reborn you’re the hero to never let evil in or never let me suffer in the cold. You gave me a prosperous soul.

Trust God (Poem) by Deonte Merritt believe what the lord has in store for you it’s always something anyone wants to have as businesses they want to invest into.

One day he will open the doors with prayers when we sin to never lose sight of what is gifted to us within.

Even though days may be stressful and odd , always trust and call god.

PART 8 :A NEW BEGANNING

Certified Champion (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I feel like a boxer when I’m ready for whatever has to prevail and never throw in the towel. I tell God I'm for another round.

stay in the same mind frame of going for the jab whenever I never allow myself to ever be stopped in my tracks.

If I stay true in my opinion, I will be a certified champion.

Walking on the Riverside (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I must follow my instincts to always get where I’m headed and never worry about the past. There is a new generation that is awaitied.

I always move along to the next phase on what is important to get done. I should always keep pushing forward until I win.

never let luck be somewhere highly flown. I'm walking on the Riverside alone.

Born Successor (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

There is an objective I’m eager to make a miracle come true is my ambition.

Never let anyone get ahead or bring your energy down so weakly keep staying active till you reach your peak.

go out with a lionheart like you are ready to roar, be a born successor.

Privilege Thinker (Poem) by Deonte Merritt progress your process on what you are trying to create, don't let nobody take something you have and let it duplicate.

failure is not an opinion that acknowledges the focusable brain we all can obtain if we want to walk on the glory of fame.

feel god’s presence that he is here if we want to devour our strength and skills must carry as legacies we linger we got to be superior like privilege thinkers.

Dignity (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I’m mighty with the mission I must complete, never say in my own words I’m weak.

I will aim at my target of where I’m striving to go and never let everything I work so hard fade into black.

show no remorse no sorrow who tries to crumble my fantasies of coming alive when it comes to dignity I have to do what is serious to comply.

Never Say Never (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I don’t speak the word quit because that is no longer in my possession. My determination is a secret that is silently kepting.

I’m breaking the score like I'm a track star runner and will never be the last to be under pressure, always stay persuasive and never let a minute tick.

stay accurate stay cleaver never say never.

PART 9 : THE NEXT JOURNEY

No Surrender (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I ain't giving out on what god pulled through so far throughout the years one day I’m going to disappear but never let hard work make me live in fear.

I’m the knight and the warrior. I keep bravery with my amazing lifestyle.

I refuse to let evilness enter when it comes to fate. I'll never surrender.

Blessed Holy (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

As further god pushed it’s been a long ride but still going always to take god’s advice.

no matter how rough the years can be rough for anyone try to never fall in the quicksand.

take one step at time slowly because you’re blessed holy.

Traveling the World (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

Since I’ve got my passport I can’t wait to see the foreign states once my flight arrives and I am never going to be stopping at the terminal late.

I can’t wait to go to Japan, London,France and Italy to roam around the sites to learn about historic events.

It will be an unforgettable experience.

The Next Destination (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

as I’m on the pursuance q god have something that he wants me fracture whatever gets in my way and got my back in spirit the echoes of your astounded grace I can hear.

keep the faith secure in these times we are facing so we can make it to the next destination.

Unforgettable Peers (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

As I take the time to look back on the beloved ones I have lost, I never forget what my grandmother taught me to stay on point to where I'm going and not knowing I would lose a special relative, even my daddy.

God looked at the one’s i call friends. I've trusted his protection around us.

to know we are in a better sanctuary this poem is for my lamented peers.

Ear Today… Gone Tomorrow (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I’m still present as an earthling that never put away or been in a penitentiary to be lonely in an adolescent place that can be scary.

I’m always weary thinking about tomorrow's adventure. I'll never let the reaper enter.

I don't ever mean any harm. I stay sinful until the day I’m gone.

Trustworthy Prayers (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

I bow my knees as I pray to the wizard god to grant my needs.

you can watch over the vision I design and never let anyone take that.

as I’m doing my heavenly father favors because god replies to my trustworthy prayers.

PART 10 : FUTURE PLANS

The Prequel, The Sequel (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

There is a continuation saga that goes on like an everyday episode that ends well.

like a film I’m seeing flashbacks of my childhood. I have never once in my lifetime been misunderstood but staying away from the dangerous things and rolling with the trenches as I should.

I’ll never break the law that is illegal. I'll always have another sequel.

The Great Aspiration (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

PART 11 : UPRISING FOR

A Quest

PART 12 : GUIDANCE OF A LEADER

PART 13 :RELATIONSHIPS

Always & Forever (Poem) by Deonte Merritt your kiwi tropical lips got fantasizing as your woman i’m dating and verbally socializing.

Our relentless commerce is always a surprise that I must bite when the womanizer of my dreams feeds me strawberries and I feed you a peach.

let this ivory blossom grow elderly as it becomes endless you’re always my benevolence like this.

I Love You (Poem) by Deonte Merritt ever since the day looking in your eyes i finally realize.

you're the one that just caught my feelings that ever begun let's get married build a future as equal i love will always continue is no sequel.

Kiss Me Again (Poem) by Deonte Merritt kiss me once, kiss me twice, kiss me forever and hold me tight.

like never before i love you now and forever more.

you are my heart filled with butterflies inside and out i can't doubt a love so true i am going to love you the whole way through.

Young Lovers (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

you and i till the day we die everytime i hear the words it's full of compromise and open lullabies.

you're the truth to everything i ever imagined no lie true lovers in a happy ending to ever start in lets express together beauty and the compassion far out from here as men and women do with each other we are real and young lovers.

True Confessions Of Love (Poem) by Deonte Merritt

This is broken, this needs to be fixed. What did I do to make you feel so lonely and left breathless?

Just hold on, let's make up, let's kiss, let's just leave all the anger and the arguments behind us.

Holding hands so tight is keeping safe relationships is what makes me smile to see a chemistry stay strong, my distance is so close to you all I ever needed the most.
